

Dyana Slokams of Sri Bhoomi Devi Sameta Uppiliyappan

उद्यत्कोटिदिवाकरेन्दुसुभगं पीताम्बरालङ्कृतम्
नानाभूषणभूषितं नवघनश्यामं प्रसन्नाननं ।
लावण्याम्बुनिधिं निरस्तलवणं श्रीशङ्खचक्राञ्चितं श्रीवैकुण्ठपुराधिपं शुभतनुं भूम्याः पतिं संश्रये ॥ udyatkoṭidivākarendusubhagam pītāambarālaṅkṛtam nānābhūṣaṇabhūṣitam navaghanaśyāmaṁ prasannānanaṁ । lāvaṇyāmbunidhiṁ nirastalavaṇaṁ śrīśaṅkhacakrañcitam śrīvaikunṭhapurādhīpaṁ śubhatanuṁ bhūmyāḥ patiṁ saṁśraye ॥

As beautiful as crores of rising suns and moons, by a yellow silk is He adorned Bejeweled with different ornaments, beautiful and dark like a cloud is His luminous and majestic face; Wealthed with a sea of grace and elegance, the One without salt,
with Lakshmi, chakram and conch;
Lord of Sri Vaikuntapuram*, of exquisite form, consort of Bhoomi Devi; I take refuge in Thee.

मार्कण्डेयमहातपः फलतया श्रीव्योमपुर्या पुरा
संजाता परिणीयतत्पुरपतिं त्यक्त्वा रसं सैन्धवम् ।
भक्तानामभयप्रदाननिरता फुल्लारविन्देक्षणा
सेयं पुष्यतु मङ्गलान्यनुदिनं सर्वाणि सर्वसहा ॥

mārkaṇḍeyamahātapah phalatayā śrīvyomapuryām purā sañjātā pariṇīyatatpurapatim tyaktvā rasam saindhavam । bhaktānāmabhayapradānaniratā phullāravindeekṣaṇā seeyam puṣyatu maṅgalānyanudinaṁ sarvāṇi sarvaṁsahā ॥

Owing to the fruits of Markandeyar's great penance, In Sri Vyomapuram* long past;
Bhoomi Devi incarnated, wed the Lord of that city and She too forsook the taste of salt;
With eyes like the blooming lotus, to the faithful she gifts deliverance from fear,
She who is thus, may She increase all that is auspicious, She who tolerates all.

* Vaikuntapuram/Vyomapuram - Thiruvinnagar or Uppiliyappan Kovil

Translated by Subhangan Venkatesan and Subha Venkatesan